This extraordinary Me[illegible], which now for the first time is finding its way into general practice, has properties in the highest degree superior to the mercurial nostrums so frequently recommended by the name of Anti-Bilious Pills. The extraordinary powers of this medicine as a solvent and evacuent of Bile, is without example; never producing debility or injuring the health, in the smallest degree, of the most delicate child or weakly female:

The BILIOUS HEAD-ACHE, so much complained of in this country, and in the neighbourhood of rivers, is often removed by a single dose, which, to a strong man, is only five pills, and to a weakly woman, three. The same dose will generally remove the most excruciating pains of the cholic, like a charm, by abusing the bile to pass downwards in the course of an hour or two.

Two or three Pills taken an hour before dinner, and repeated every third day, will effectually remove those diseases arising from flatulency and indigestion, and by persevering in the use of them for a considerable time, the appetite will be improved, and strength and vigor will return.

Two Pills taken at bed time, with a cup of penny-royal tea, and repeated every second night, will effectually remove Rheumatic pains wherever seated.

A single Pill, taken every fourth hour with a cup of flaxseed tea, will cure Pleurisy, promote expectoration, and relieve coughs and colds.

In CONSUMPTIVE CASES and DISEASES OF THE LIVER, no medicine ever yet discovered, has been known to perform such cures. Two Pills taken every third morning, will be found sufficient, unless costiveness prevails; in which case the dose may be increased according to the strength or constituton.

The Dysentery, Croup, and Summer Complaint on children, are soon relieved by a few doses. A single Pill to a child of 6 years old, and the dose increased according to their strength and age.

In Asthmatic or Phthisical cases, where the laborious breathing and great oppression, with faintings, are fast sinking the patient to the brink of the grave, a few Pills, taking one every hour, with fennel or pepper-mint tea, will often enable the patient to walk about in a few hours.

we all sp upon our chargers again, and dashed off about one o'clock to try our fortune with col. Tynes. Just before day, we came upon the enemy, whom we found buried in sleep. The roar of our guns first broke their slumbers; and by the time the affrighted wretches had got upon their legs, man and horse we were among them, hewing down. Three and thirty fell under our swords; forty six were taken; the rest, about sixty, made their escape.— Col. Tynes himself, with upwards of one hundred horses, and all the baggage, fell into our hands.

"A day or two after this victory, the general ordered me to take captain Baxter, lieutenant Postell, and serjeant M'Donald, with thirty privates, and see if I could not gain some advantage over the enemy, near their lines at George-town. About midnight, we crossed Black river—and, pushing on in great silence through the dark woods, arrived at dawn of day near the enemy's sentries, where we lay in ambush close on the road. Just after the usual hour of breakfast, a chair, with a couple of young ladies squired by a brace of British officers, elegantly mounted—came along at a sweeping rate from Georgetown. They had not passed more than fifty steps before they stopped short. I was confoundedly afraid at first, that they had, somehow or other, smelt a rat; but it turned out, as we afterwards learned, that this was only a little courting party, going into the country to dine. On getting into the gloomy woods, the girls were taken with a quaking fit for their sweethearts, lest that "vile swamp fox," as they called Marion, should come across them. Whereupon the halt aforesaid was ordered, and a consultation held; the result of which was, that the girls should go on to their friend's house, and the officers back to town, for a party of dragoons. Accordingly the chair proceeded, and the officers galloped back by us, undisturbed—for we did not think it worth while to risk an alarm for the sake of a couple of officers. Presently, beginning to feel very hungry, for we had travelled all night and eaten nothing, we agreed to retire to the house of a neighboring planter, who was known to be a good whig. As we entered the yard, what should we see but the identical chair that had passed us a little before!—and on stepping into the house, behold the very same young ladies!—They were richly dressed and well formed, and would, no doubt have appeared handsome, but for the hostile passions which glared from their eyes, and gave their whole physiognomy a fury-like expression. They asked us with great pertness—"what business we had there?—The gentleman of the house" continued they, "is not at home, and there are no provisions here for you, and to be sure you are too much of gentlemen to think of frightening a family of poor helpless women!"

"Happily I made no reply—for while these young viragoes were catechising us at this rate—I discovered, with much pleasure, that the lady of the house did not utter a word; but walked the room, backward and forward with a smiling countenance. Presently she went out, and shewing herself at an opposite window, beckoned me to come to her, when she said in a low voice—"go back into the house—I'll be there directly." On my stepping in, you must demand provisions, I will deny that I have any. You must then get into a violent passion, and swear you will have them, or set the house on fire. I will then throw down the keys and you can just take what you want, for thank God there is enough, both for you and your horses.

"Such was the farce, which the whigs in those days, both ladies and gentlemen were obliged to play, when they had any of their tory acquaintance about them. We now played it, and with the desired success, for the troughs in the yard were all presently filled with corn and fodder for our cavalry—while for ourselves, the good natured cook-wenches soon served up a most welcome repast of fried bacon and eggs, with nice hearth cake, and butter and milk. "God be praised," said we, and down we sat, and made a breakfast, of which even kings, without exercise and keen appetites, can form no idea.

"Just as we had got completely refreshed, and braced up again, what should we hear but the firing of our sentinels? "To horse! to horse! my brave fellows," was the cry of one and all. Quick as thought, we were all mounted and formed, when in came our sentinels, with the British dragoons hard after them, smack up to the fence. Charge boys, charge! was the word. In a moment, the yard was bright with the shining of our swords. The tory girls shrieked out for their sweethearts—"Oh the British! the British! murder! murder! Oh!" Then off we went, all at once, in solid column. The enemy took to their heels, and we pursued. Over the fence we bounded like stags. Down the hill went the British—down the hill went we; helterskelter, man and horse, we flew; roaring through the woods, like the sound of distant thunder.

"We were all excellently mounted; but, there was no horse that could hold the way with Selim. He was the hind-most of all when the chase began; and I wondered at first what was become of Selim: but presently I saw him and M'Donald coming up on my right, like a thunder gust. Indeed, with his wide spread nostrils, and long extended neck, and glaring eye balls, he seemed as a flying dragon in chace of his prey. He soon had his master up with the enemy. I saw when M'Donald drew his claymore. The shining of the steel was terrible, as, rising on his stirrups, with high lifted arm, he waved it three times in fiery circles over his head, as if to call up all his strength. Then with a voice of thunder, he poured his charging shout; dreadful as the roar of the lion when close up to his game, with hideous paws unclenched, he makes his last spring on the fat buffaloes of his chace.

"Though their mortal enemy, I could not but pity the poor fugitives, for I saw that their death was at hand. One of the British officers fired a pistol at him, but without effect—before he could try another, he was cut down by M'Donald. After this, at a blow apiece, he sealed the eyes of three dragoons in lasting sleep. Two fell beneath the steel of the strong handed Snipes: nor did my sword return bloodless to its scabbard. In short, of the whole party, consisting of twenty five, not a man escaped, except one officer, who, in the heat of the chace and carnage, cunningly shot off, at right angles, for a swamp, which he luckily gained, and so cleared himself."

REMAINS OF ANCIENT FO. FICATIONS.

The number and appearances of the aboriginal defences in the western countries of this state, excite many curious and interesting enquiries. I say aboriginal because the great antiquity of these works preclude the possibility of their being of European origin. Trees of the largest size and most ancient growth are now standing in the ditches of the forts; yet these are obviously the successors to an earlier growth of trees, which have fallen beneath the devouring hand of time, and whose decayed trunks can be distinctly traced across the entrenchments. This we have visible and tangible evidence that these fortifications were constructed before the discovery of America by Columbus. Our largest forest trees are from two to three hundred years old; and the circumstance of two growths upon the same spot, clearly and demonstrably gives to the defences in question, an antiquity of five centuries.

These ancient forts are found in the greatest number between Onondago and Buffalo: though I have seen them as far east as Sackett's Harbor, and as far west as the Miami of the lakes. They consist for the most part, of circular entrenchments, enclosing from one to ten acres of ground, with a ditch on the out side, except at the gateway, and are mostly, though not all situated on eminences. Many of them either encompass water, or are located near a living stream. Yet I have noticed several near which no water is to be found, and where it would be difficult to procure it by digging. Some appear to have been chosen with great military acumen, while others are too low to admit of security or defence, even against arrows, having their areas commanded by circumjacent heights, or situated in vallies. They are always found at, or in the vicinity of salt springs: from which fact many elucidating interferences may be drawn. There are two at the Onandaga salt works. At Mon-tezuma there are two—one, on each side of the Cayuga-outlet. These last are on eminences which would lead one to believe that their sites had been selected for the special use and conveniences of artillery. There are also two salt springs in Genessee county, near to which are the remains of ancient forts. In Onondaga, Cayuga and Ontario counties, there are upwards of 20 similar works, all bearing corresponding marks of age, all obviously the labors of the same people. There is one in the immediate vicinity of this village, situated on a commanding hill, in all respects a military position. This differs from the others in one respect, the southern side, being on the brow of the hill has no ditch, and which consequently, must have been picketted.

It is not true, that gun-barrels, axes, and pieces of iron, have been found in and near these forts. Neither are there any proofs to establish the belief that a fugitive Spanish army ever built nocturnal forts to protect themselves from savage attack. The only substances indicative of the origin of these antiquities, which have withstood the lapse of ages, are bones and fragments of earthenware. Pottery was an art which was carried to a perfection unknown to the Indians of the present day. The body of the fragments appears to have been composed of small pebbles, cemented and beautifully glazed and ornamented. But appearances may be deceptive; perhaps, it was formed of pounded stones, to which time has given the form and resemblance of pebbles. The quantity found in and about the forts, and ploughed up in the fields, is a conclusive argument in favor of excessive population, which is fully confirmed by the nearness to each other of the ruins. I have only given facts.

NEW-YORK, April 11.

By the fast sailing ship Tea Plant, Capt. Brown, arrived last evening from Liverpool, whence she sailed on the 24th of February, the editors of the Mercantile Advertiser have received the papers of that city to the 22d, and London of the 20th, which furnish no political news of moment. Mr. Vansittart had brought into the British parliament his plan for the military peace establishment. He states that 33,000 seamen would be wanted for the present year, though the general peace establishment would require but 30,000. For the army he proposes to keep up 25,000 for Great-Britain, and the same number for Gibraltar and the Mediterranean possessions 41,000; for British America 10,000; for the East and West-Indies 25,000—in all 99,000 men. The supplies for the present year are calculated at 26 millions, which the chancellor states will be reduced one-third the next year. He recommends the continuance of the property and income taxes for the present. The peace he thought was stable, and would continue, but was opposed to the country's disarming altogether, whilst the continent was still covered with camps and armies, or to leave itself without the possible resurrection of its strength.

Letters from Liverpool mention several important failures at Glasgow.

We have, says the Boston Centinel, Lisbon Gazettes to the 22d of February, They do not record any event of great importance. Gen. Morillo's official despatch announcing the successful progress of his army against the insurgents in Spanish America, is given in the Madrid papers. He paints the conduct of the rebel chiefs in colours as strong as those they have delineated his in; and that the most gross falsehoods are circulated by them respecting the object of the expedition. The Spanish papers notice with great indignation the calumnies continually uttered in the English papers against their king.

King Ferdinand, of Spain, has officially announced his intention to marry Donna Isabella Maria Frances, second daughter of the Prince Regent of Portugal; and that his brother, Don Carlos of Spain, will marry Donna Maria Frances de Assis, sister to the above. The intended Queen is in her 19th, her sister in her 16th year. The Lisbon papers say these happy alliances will perpetuate the relations between the august houses of Bourbon and Braganza..

PHILADELPHIA, April 16.

Boat Navigation.—Besides the regular Steam Boats which ply up and down the Delaware, there are now three crossing alternately from the shores of Jersey and Pennsylvania every hour of the day. To these means of conveyance, has just been added a commodious boat propelled by the power of horses. It is believed that not less than 3000 persons crossed and recrossed in these boats on Sunday last. This latter circumstance is not mentioned to prove how scrupulous our citizens are of "keeping the Sabbath day holy."

Shares 100 dollars each, to be paid as follows:—At the time of subscribing 5 dollars in specie, and 25 dollars in public stock or treasury notes—in six months 10 dollars specie, 25 dollars stock—and in twelve months 10 dollars specie and 25 dollars stock.

Stephen Girard, William Jones, Guy Bryan, Chandler Price, and Charles J. Ingersoll, are nominated by the President of the United States, Commissioners for opening books and receiving subscriptions.

A handsome Steam Boat of 250 tons burthen, was launched at Wheeling on the 17th inst. by Capt. Shrieve. It is said she will be ready to take freight and passengers for New-Orleans, about the 1st of May.

Gen. Brooks, an old revolutionary patriot, is elected Governor of the State of Massachusetts.

His Excellency J. C. Smith, is re-elected Governor of the State of Connecticut.

The Columbian, (N. Y.) asserts, that Gov. Tompkins has written to Washington City, "declining the caucus nomination to the Vice-Presidency." From this it appears that Simon Snyder's letter to "Kullener Tennel T. Dumbginns" has had the desired effect.

Congress, it is supposed will adjourn about the first of May, having gone through most of the public business of an important nature. How far their deliberations and acts will conduce to the public interest is a question to be tried by experience.

Specie Importations.——The British schr. Mary Ann, arrived at Charleston, from Nassau, on the 8th inst. had 20,000 dollars specie on board. Large importations of this article are expected, it being not much above par value in most of the British possessions.

The Steam Boat DESPATCH, arrived at Cincinnati on the 17th inst. on her way to this place. She left New Orleans on the 2d ult.

The Steam Boat ÆTNA arrived at Louisville on the 14th ult. from New Orleans.

Came to anchor before this place on last Saturday evening, the schr. Maria, (capt. Lovell, of and from Marietta, (Ohio) bound to Boston, (Mass.) full cargo, pork, flour and lard. The Maria is upwards of 50 tons burden, has 51 feet straight rabbit, 18 feet beam, and draws 8 feet water. She was built, rigged and sailed at Marietta, and is owned by gentlemen. Moses M'Farland and Edmund B. Hart; the latter gentleman on board. The Maria sailed hence, yesterday at 11 o'clock. The present state of water is favorable to her descent of the river—may prosperous gales waft her to her port of destination.

A Commercial and Exporting Company is now formed at Marietta, this spirited enterprise we hope is but the harbinger of others of greater magnitude.

Cincinnati Gaz. April 19.

We learn by a gentleman from Washington, that the bill reported by the committee on the National currency has been recommitted for amendment.

The bill as reported was drawn up in conformity with the suggestions contained in a letter to the committee from Mr. Dallas, the secretary of the Treasury. In this manner does the ungrateful secretary make return to the favours which the banks granted to him in his official distress. After such a proof of dangerous principles it will give pleasure to every friend of our national prosperity to hear, that Mr. Dallas has given notice of his intention to resign. In the Federal Republican of this morning it is suggested that he has expectations of being elected President of the United States Bank, We think he will not subject himself to the mortification of a disappointment which would be certain if he made the attempt.

Balt. Fed. Gaz.

A letter from an officer of the frigate United States, says, "The Algerine war, concerning which there is much disputed, has been peremptorily refused to be given up by the Spanish government; therefore it must be a national adjustment. The Algerines inform us that they look to Spain for her restoration. They have at this time, 130 Spaniards in their possession, which are held as hostages for the vessel."

The Algerine squadron is in Algiers, refitting.

Captain Collins, arrived at Boston in 43 days from Teneriffe, informs, that there was a fleet of transports at that place, bound to St. Helena, having on board, the frame of a palace, to be erected for Napoleon Bonaparte.

PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE.

IT is certainly an act of intolerable presumption in a few men who have been sent to bungle or patch up some things which they call laws, to arrogate to themselves the right of dictating to the enlightened people of Pennsylvania, in matters totally unconnected with their legislative capacity. It is well known that a majority of the last house were new members; mere novices in the business of legislation, and that many of the others were very little better qualified, and that their getting a seat there was a matter of mere accident, occasioned by the shameful apathy or ignorance of the people at large. It is likewise well known, that a large majority of that body, have never been distinguished for their political or extensive knowledge, and that what little they have obtained, must be confined to a very contracted sphere.

It may likewise be remarked, that many of them have been raked up from the very shades of obscurity, and perhaps there may be some among them who never went to the expence of reading the public news.

Whence then do they derive such knowledge of the talents and qualifications of the great political characters of the United States, as to intrude their opinions and direct their constituents to vote for persons whom they themselves know nothing about? This is a vanity resulting entirely from ignorance of themselves, not considering the limits of the sphere of action to which their duties are confined. Are they so vain as to suppose, that such a vast number of intelligent and well informed political characters as Pennsylvania contains, are in the least need of their advice and instructions?

But it is very evident that they have been the poor blind dupes of those demagogues who take the lead in their intriguing caucuses, to promote their own interest or ambition.

It would not be surprising indeed, if they had at the same time formed a ticket for the next assembly, and included every one of themselves therein.

Whenever any public character, whether an individual or a body politick, overleap the boundaries prescribed by the constitution and laws, such usurpation ought to be immediately resented by the people, and the necessary and legal steps taken for their removal.

THE SCHEDIASM—No. 8.

O say thou silly curious elf,
Hast thou not else to do thyself,
And be the meddling dolt and try,
Into other mens' concerns to pry.

Stult. Navis.

I was travelling not long since with a person who possessed a very remarkably inquisitive disposition. Every house, hut, or cabin we passed, excited a desire to know who lived in it and the name of the occupant. If he saw any person near to the house, he would ask, "Do you live there?" if a reply was made in the affirmative, it was followed with—"And what might your name be?" Informed of this, my companion would then bid the person good day, and continue his ride. If the countryman was so unfortunate as to be engaged in the field, he was summoned to the road side with—"Hollo my good fellow—here?" The good natured farmer, being called by a gentleman on horseback, would leave his plough, come up to the road, and welcome us with "good morrow, sirs." My inquisitive friend would now put his interrogatories.—"Do you live there?"—"What might be your name?" then say a few words concerning the farm and bid him good bye. This curious disposition of my fellow traveller was not agreeable to me; it retarded our journey not a little, and answered no good purpose whatever; I could not discover any real gratification or benefit gained by this troublesome inquisitiveness. Travellers can acquire no useful information by asking, who lives in the houses or cabins they may pass, yet are often charged with inattention, because they do not recollect the cabin of such a person. Unless there is something striking in the architecture of the buildings, or their situations, or unless the person is a stranger and has particular business with some one living on the road, I think it very impertinent in him to enquire of any man, from mere curiosity, if he lives in such a house, and what his name is.

That is a far nobler inquisitiveness, which prompts men to traverse foreign regions, noting the manners, laws and customs of the people; ascertaining the state of the arts and sciences among them, extending their researches into the mineralogical and vegetable kingdoms, investigating impartially the whole natural history of those countries, and gratifying their minds in the contemplation of objects that excite admiration or surprise, by their antiquity, or novelty, beauty or sublimity. Persons who are inquisitive about these subjects, will always meet with prompt attention from those to whom they apply for information, and it will be imparted cheerfully; thus they will acquire an inexhaustible fund of valuable and interesting knowledge, which may be highly useful to themselves and their friends. But that idle curiosity, so prevalent, which takes little to excite it, always in search of trifles, teazes and pesters friends, acquaintances and strangers, and answers no useful purpose. It prys into the concerns of families, follows persons in their visits or walks, and lays the foundation of at least two-thirds the scandal that circulates through society. This idle curiosity is not as some believe, confined wholly to the families, to be sure, they have their share, but I have discovered no inconsiderable portion of it among our sex, and particularly since the appearance of these our papers.—Numbers are daily enquiring who we are, but they may wander on in the wilderness of conjecture, we shall not have the humanity to extricate them; their idle curiosity ought not to be gratified; what difference does it make to them, who the writers of the Schediasm are.—This subject brings to my recollection a fragment of a letter now in my possession, it seems to have been penned not long since by a sojourner in our city, and is a specimen of what curiosity will do.—"To give you an account of the different associations and clubs formed in this place, from which you may form a tolerably correct opinion of the state of society; my curiosity was first attracted by the Philosophical Society and induced me to attend a meeting last fall. In the hall was a large case containing a respectable collection of minerals, but laying in the utmost confusion; no order or classification—poor philosophers thought I, who cannot arrange their minerals; I was however pleased with an essay on Iron read by one of the members, and afterwards with a discussion that took place. This certainly was a source of profitable instruction as well as amusement; and if the interest with which the members were at first inspired, had continued, the institution might have been made very respectable; but as the winter approached the zeal of the members cooled, and like numbers of the animal creation these philosophers sunk into a state of torpidity during that season; however, I hope the genial influence of the vernal months which revivicates the whole animal and vegetable world, may also restore these philosophers to their former energy and animation. Curiosity again led me into the Library room; here I beheld a case only half filled with books. 'Tis a lamentable truth, this town the largest in the western country and second in the state, has a public library consisting of a few hundred volumes, one half of which have been loaned to it by individuals.—This institution will never flourish until the people are more liberal, and comply with the terms of subscription. The small political clubs that transact their business, and settle the affairs of the nation over a mug of beer and under cover of a cloud of tobacco smoke, are the most numerous and best supported. Literary associations will not prosper here. The most of the people are so deeply engaged in business, and others in the pursuit of idle pleasures, that their minds take no delight in scientific or literary research. &c. &c. S.

To the Public.

ALL persons are cautioned against taking assignments of any notes or obligations given by me to John M'Afee or to William M'Kee, in May, 1815, or at any other time.—Said notes or obligations having been given upon the sale of one hundred acres and allowance of land, in Cunningham's District, by said M'Afee and M'Kee to me, for which they had no title. Each of them holds one note or obligation for 150 dollass, payable the first day of May, 1817, and several others for 100 dollars, payable yearly afterwards, I am resolved to pay none of said notes, unless good security be given for the title which they covenanted to make to me.

REMOVAL.

J. BYRNE,

UMBRELLA AND POCKET BOOK MANUFACTURER

HAS removed from Market to Fourth, between Market and Ferry Streets, where he solicits a continuance of that patronage with which he was favoured last year, and for which he returns his best thanks, and promises an unremitting attention to merit public favor.—Umbrellas and Parasols, made and repaired on the shortest notice, and in the neatest manner, and the smallest favor thankfully received and promptly attended to.

For sale—Jewelry, cutlery, perfumery, patent medicines, and a number of fancy and small wares. 3t

THE Subscriber having given to EZEKIEL WRIGHT, of Mifflin township, four Bonds, conditioned for the payment of $200 each; the first due on the 1st day of April, 1817, and the others annually from that date. Said Bonds were given for the purchase money of a Tract of Land on Peter's creek, in Mifflin township, Allegheny county. Whereas sundry liens are yet remaining due and unpaid against said premises, this is therefore to forwarn all persons from taking an assignment of said bonds, as the terms of sale are not complied with on the part of said WRIGHT, and I am determined to withhold payment until he complies with his contract.

Classical Hotel.

GEORGE HAVEN, takes this method to inform the public, that he has (partially) compleated his long premeditated plan, in furnishing a suitable retreat for the beau-monde of the City of Pittsburgh, at the pleasantly situated Brick House, one mile from Town, between Billy Price's Round House, and the Two Mile Run—where the Statesman may find a stimulus to Patriotism—the Classic Adler, the Poet and Philosopher, fresh inspiration—the more illustrious, though not less respectable, Merchant and Tradesman, drive away "dull care" by the proper use of the following articles:——

| SOUND ARGUMENTS. | NECESSARIES |
|---|---|
| Gammon and Eggs, | Bread, Porter, |
| Beef, Mutton, | Butter, Beer, |
| Venison, Fish, | Mead, Vegitables, |
| Fowls, &c. &c. | Coffee, Tea, |
| | Sauce, &c. &c. |
| SUPERFLUITIES. | GRIEVANCES. |
| Wine, Brandy, | Pepper, |
| Spirits, Whiskey, | Mustard, |
| Gin, Cakes, | Vinegar, |
| Pies, Tarts, | Pickles, |
| Turtle Soup, Segars, | &c. &c. |
| Custards, &c. &c. | |

The above articles will be exchanged, on reasonable terms, for dollars, dimes, cents, mills, or bank bills. He flatters himself that those gentlemen who favour him with their custom, will not think it superfluous, nor take it as a grievance, if they should be prevailed upon by sound arguments, to deem it necessary to make immediate payment—or approved credit, at thirty, sixty or ninety seconds, or as long as one can hold his breath.

From the liberality of the terms—the retired and airy situation—and unremitted attention, he hopes to receive a share of patronage—at least from those who think with a favourite author, that

"The Mouse who is content with one poor hole
"Can never be a Mouse of any soul."

And whilst he solicits the patronage of his friends and the public, he would not forget to invoke a blessing from his tutelary deity, the god of feasting—Epicuri de Grege Porcum.

O thou whose power, directs the feast,
When Bishop, Alderman or Priest,
Meet here to sup or dine;
Here at my Temple day by day,
Their willing homage let them pay,
And worship at thy shrine.

To them, O, be it ever known,
Whene'er my loaded tables groan,—
And then (if such thy will) Grant them an appetite (pray I,)
That they may drink, and yet be dry,
May eat, yet never fill.

Enlarge their mouths, extend their jaws,
Preserve their teeth from aches and flaws,
Their grinders from decay;
O let their swallows be so wide,
That thumping slices down may glide,
Nor aught obstruct the way.

To thee thy humble suppliant prays,
O let them pass their nights and days
(From gout and surfeit free)
Midst Venison, Ortolans, Ragouts,
Turtle and Turnot, Soups and Stews, Roast, Boiled and Fricaseed.

From attention to business, he hopes to merit a share of public patronage.

JESSE HAMILTON.

Messrs. Bosler & Co.

Have just received from LEE'S PATENT and FAMILY MEDICINE STORE, New-York,

A FRESH SUPPLY OF THE FOLLOWING

GENUINE MEDICINES.

Dr HAMILTON'S

Grand Restorative.

Prepared (only) by H. Lee, No. 56, Maiden Lane, New-York.

The proprietor of HAMILTON'S RESTORATIVE DROPS confidently recommends it as an invaluable medicine, for the speedy relief and permanent cure of

|---|---|
| Nervous Disorders | Violent Cramps in the stomach and back |
| Consumptions | Indigestion |
| Lowness of Spirits | Melancholy |
| Loss of Appetite | Gout in the stomach |
| Impurity of Blood | Pains in the Limbs |
| Hysterical Affections | Relaxations, &c |
| Inward Weaknesses | |

This Medicine is perfectly different in its qualities and operation from those hot and irritating drugs so frequently proposed for similar purposes, which only recommend themselves by the dangerous rapidity of their effects—and which, acting as a temporary, but violent stimulus on the nervous system, infallibly produces greater evils than those which they are intended to remove.

The principal operation of this medicine is in the stomach, restoring the digestive power, and sending from that organ new health and vigor into every part of the system; it enriches and purifies the blood without stimulating, too violently, the nervous system; strengthens the secretory vessels and general habits, brings back the muscular fibres to their natural and healthy tone, and restores that nutrition which immoderate evacuations have destroyed, and whose loss had thrown the whole frame into languor and debility.

The restorative is absolutely above all commendation in removing those weaknesses and infirmities with which many females are afflicted, the consequences of difficult and painful labours, or of injudicious treatment therein.

In cases of extremity, where the long prevalence and obstinacy of disease have brought on a general impoverishment of the system, excessive debility of the whole frame, and a wasting of the flesh, which no nourishment or cordial could repair.

The Grand Restorative is prepared in Pills, as well as in fluid form, which assists considerably in producing a gradual and lasting effect

HAMILTON'S

Worm Destroying Lozenges.

Which have cured an immense number of persons of both sexes, of every age, and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from worms, and from obstructions of foulness in the stomach and bowels.

Hahn's Anti-Bilious Pills,

Celebrated for the mildness of their operation, &c. for being the best known remedy for cleansing the stomach and bowels.

ESSENCE & EXTRACT OF MUSTARD,

A safe and effectual remedy for Rheumatisms, Gout, Palsy, Sprains and Bruises, White Swellings, old Strains and Relaxations, Numbness and Weaknesses of the Neck, Pains of the Side, Headache, Swelled Faces, Frozen Limbs, and every similar complaint. It prevents Chilblains or Chopped Hands, and the ill effects of getting wet or damp in the feet.

THE GENUINE PERSIAN LOTION,

So celebrated among the fashionable thro'out Europe, in preventing and removing blemishes of the face and skin, freckles, pimples, inflammatory redness, scurfs, tetters, ringworms, sunburns, prickly heat, &c.

THE RESTORATIVE POWDER,

For the Teeth and Gums.

This excellent preparation comforts and strengthens the gums, preserves the enamel from decay, and cleanses and whitens the teeth, by absorbing all the acrimonious slime and foulness, which, suffered to accumulate, never fails to injure and finally ruin them.

HAMILTON'S ELIXIR.

Celebrated for the cure of colds, obstinate coughs, asthmas, and approaching consumptions, and a certain remedy for the whooping cough.

HAHN'S GENUINE EYE WATER.

CURE FOR COUGHS, COLDS, &c.

Hamilton's Elixir,

A SOVEREIGN REMEDY for Colds, obstinate Coughs, Asthmas, Sore Throats, and approaching Consumptions, and most disorders of the breast and lungs.

A SINGLE TRIAL

Will prove, that it restores the determination of the fluid to the surface of the body, and brings on the common healthful perspiration; that it dislodges and evacuates the tough viscid phlegm or mucus, strengthens the weakened vessels of the lungs, sheathes the acrimonious humor which irritates them, and finally discharges it. Thus striking at the root of the disorder, the symptoms are of course effectually and permanently conquered; the reverse of common medicines, which weaken the constitution and give strength to the disorder, for the sake of moderating for the present its painful effects.

To parents who have children afflicted with the HOOPING COUGH, this discovery is of the first magnitude, as it affords immediate relief, checks the progress, and in a short time entirely removes the most cruel disorders to which children are liable. The Elixir is so perfectly agreeable, and the dose so small, that no difficulty arises in taking it.

TO H. LEE.

Being desirous to make public, for the good of others, the excellent quality of HAMILTON'S ELIXIR, prepared by the late M. I have sent you the following account of the benefit I have received from it, which I will induce others to give it a trial. In consequence of a bruise on the breast received in a fall, my health grew bad, my breathing became very difficult and frequently I have been to rise up in my bed, with all the horrors of immediate suffocation. Add to these a constant pain in my breast, and a cough, a great loss of strength and flesh, and you may conceive that my symptoms evidently indicated approaching consumption. The advice of the most eminent physician was resorted to, and afterwards a second was called in, but without giving me any relief. Another physician who knew me and the circumstances of my case, advised me to give Hamilton's Elixir a trial, saying, he had used it in his practice, and always found it to do much good. About a pint was procured from Mr. Burch's, and I found relief before I had taken half of it. I continued to use it, and was soon strong enough to attend to business. On taking cold some of my former symptoms return, but are always removed by a dose or two of the Elixir.

GEORGE BENNER, Jr.
No. 11, Budd Street, Philadelphia.

The public are respectfully informed, that the above MEDICINES are prepared (only) by the SOLE PROPRIETOR, H. LEE, No. 56, Maiden Lane, New-York, and sold, wholesale and retail, by
